SUPPLEMENTAL HURRICANE INSURANCE

How Payouts Are Determined

A Real Life Example

Vortex Supplemental Hurricane Insurance isn't your typical hurricane insurance. Payouts aren't linked to damages but instead to specific weather events.

This type of insurance helps fill the gaps that traditional insurance typically doesn't cover, like deductibles, flood, and nondamage business interruption. With Vortex, if your policy is triggered, your payout is mailed in less than two weeks.

If the storm track of a Category-3 or greater hurricane enters the coverage area specified in your policy, you get paid. And these payments increase with storm intensity and proximity to your business.

Stop spinning your wheels and start enjoying the peace of mind that comes with knowing Vortex has you covered.

How Payouts Are Determined

Ian: A Real Life Example

This map represents the storm track of Hurricane Ian and examples of several businesses in the hurricane's path. As the storm moved inland, the intensity dropped from a Category 5 (orange), to Category 4 (yellow), and finally to Category 3 (white).

The map details include a representative insurance amount (total insurance limit), selected peril coverage, and subsequent payout amounts from the hurricane's impact.

Policies last 12 months. Premiums start at $250, depending on the location and the type of coverage selected.

Claims are made based on independent third-party data from the National Hurricane Center, so once you sign the policy, you're all set. Payments are usually sent out within two weeks, and you can use your payout however you want.
It's that easy.

Don't risk it. Vortex it.
